Superintendent's Highlights

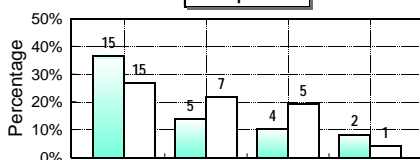

With recent administrative changes the Plummer/Worley School District #44 has experienced several improvements warranting notice. First, the middle school is currently under extensive review through a grant to improve its delivery of programs to assist in the process of restructuring for a true middle school concept. The entire district has adopted a new student behavior and management program entitled "Respect and Protect." The program allows for a more consistent process of handling students who are struggling to fit into the daily routine of school life and provides for consistent accountability of student behavior. The program also supports a 'No Violence' atmosphere throughout the district thereby creating a safe environment more conducive to teaching and learning. Lastly, test scores continue to climb and reading remains a priority.

Progress Towards Meeting District Goals

2000-01 Goals	Progress
Align district curriculum with state standards	The curriculum committee and various departments have been meeting regularly throughout the year. The curriculum will be adopted in summer, 2001. The middle school staff developed curriculum guides for grades 5 through 7.
Improve reading progress	The students are at the state average with the Idaho Reading Indicator.
Improve the student learning environment	Implemented the Respect and Protect discipline program. Discipline is administered consistently with all students and the district supports a zero tolerance for violence policy.
Increase academic success at LHS	A greater number of students have been recognized at the academic awards ceremony. The number of students increasing their gpa by .5 per semester was tripled.
Improve cultural awareness	Hosted a multi-school pow wow during the school year. Participated in WSU College Days sponsored by the Office of Minority Affairs.
